About The Hive Social Garden

Vision

Using nature and technology to engineer a more equitable world for all beings to thrive.

Mission

To disrupt power-based violence through online access to community care and education that promotes sustainable globalization, local community organizing, and ethical social engineering practices.

Who are we?

The brain child of two queer, disabled and neuro-divergent United States Marines trying to learn how to live and love well. The Hive Social Garden is a non-profit, member owned community. We leverage quantum intelligence, social engineering, and sustainable globalization techniques to help vulnerable communities secure their intellectual property, share their experiences, and build a more sustainable and equitable future.

We believe in a personal approach to our learning and healing practices where every individual has personal autonomy and takes responsibility for their actions. Actions have consequences and it is our job as global citizens to ensure that we account for both the intent and impact of everything we say and do. We accept the consequences of our actions with a brave face, and a pure heart, knowing that in our personal autonomy we make smart decisions, plan ahead, and hope for the best.

Every individual deserves personalized access to affordable living, medical care (to include gender affirming care, abortion care, and mental health services), nutrition, and free public access to information and library services with self-censorship.

Sensitive Spaces

Merlin's Rainbow Beas

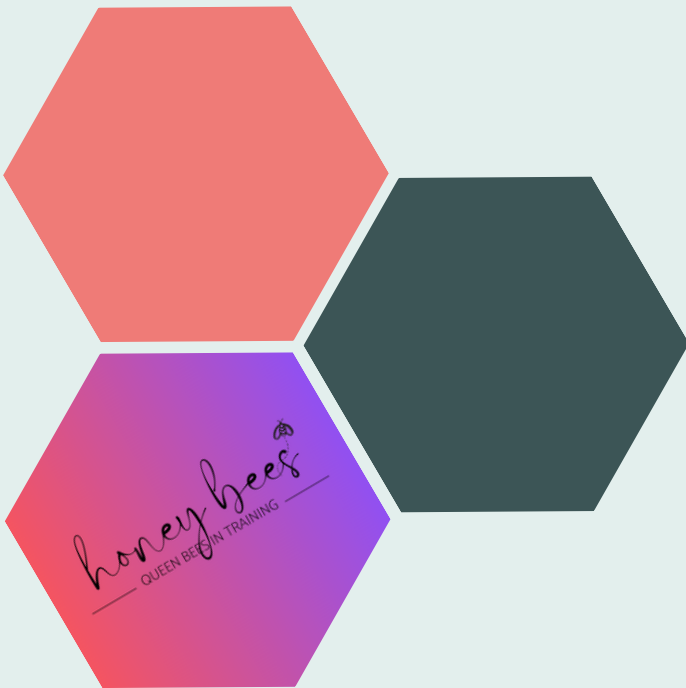

Neuro/Queer Support

- Trauma-Informed, Peer Support (Merlin is not a license therapist and advocates for working with a license therapist; however, sometimes it helps to talk through issues with an individual who understands what you are going through - this is where peer support comes in)
- The trauma and pain of growing up in an environment where you live in fear due to your personal identity or the presence of gender-based violence requires a little more love and protection in order to heal.
- PTSD; Complex Childhood Trauma/Parental Neglect; Violence in the Home; Military Trauma; Gender-based Trauma; Medical Trauma

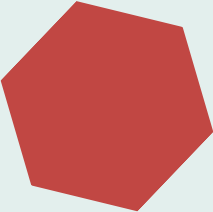

Je suis Elle

Inclusive, consent-based sexual wellness

- The human body is a mystery meant to be explored and understood in a safe, inclusive, and consenting environment.
- We will explore and discuss sexual health and wellness, to include everything from basic sexual health to kink and power dynamic play and everything in between.

*The Queen Bea was Merlin's Aunt. She was a nurse and his primary caregiver until she passed away. We honor her love and care by using her as the namesake for our wellness services.

1

Create your alter ego:

- Mine is a Fairy Godmother named Elle who is trying to save the world from a dark fate. Will she save humanity creating a solar punk paradise or will we decay into a cyberpunk capitalist system?
- She has high tops and knee high socks, fishnet stockings and short shorts, all the graphic Ts, bumblebee wings, and a tiara
- She has unlocked the key to a longer life and struggles to get the world to understand that we have to learn to communicate for understanding and the only way we can do that is through loving others the way THEY need to be loved.

2

Create your online garden

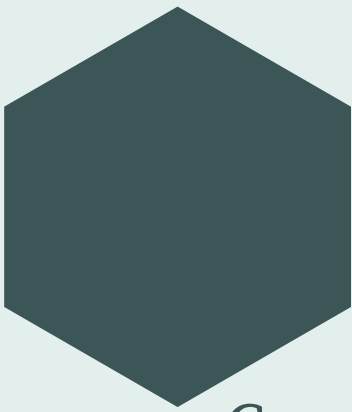

- Give creators the tools they need to connect and share their online content in safe, Open-Source based communities
- Allow families, no matter what they look like, to support each other.
- Create your hive to look however big or small through levels of consent
- Online Security is not just for corporations and governments anymore. Take charge of your data while it's still easy to clean your digital footprint and let's clean our carbon foot print while we are at it.
- Making use of unique, random, and fantastical information, we verify your account using personality traits that are as unique as you.

3

Create your future and write your story!!

- Learn the tools you need to connect and share online content in safe, Open-Source based communities.
- Develop your future plan and put it into practice.
- Leverage Quantum Intelligence, Ethical Social Engineering, and Sustainable Globalization to disrupt power-based violence through the power of storyteller energy.
